PATH Intl. Invites Exhibitors to 2015 Conference

Denver—PATH Intl. anticipates a large crowd at its conference in Cleveland, OH, November 4-7, 2015. Targeted at professionals in equine-assisted activities and therapies (EAAT) and those wanting to learn more, the 2015 PATH Intl. Conference and Annual Meeting, sponsored by Purina, features an impressive array of educational sessions presented by industry experts. With four days of intensive sessions, discussion forums, social receptions, the horse expo and the annual awards banquet, which celebrates the accomplishments of those in the industry, PATH Intl. is eager to fill the Renaissance Cleveland exhibit hall with the products and services attendees have come to expect.

Do you have a product horse people would be interested in purchasing? Do you have a service that you know our people would love? Could your business help our centers be more efficient? Horse products (for horse or rider), educational materials, consulting services, disability services are all possibilities for selling to the nearly 1,000 therapeutic horsemanship professionals anticipated to attend. The possibilities are limited only by the amount of space available, so reserve a booth early.

According to a PATH Intl. membership survey, 84% of members stated they would be likely to purchase from companies that support PATH Intl. With a conference audience largely made up of certified instructors, executive directors and administrators, exhibitors have direct access to a diverse and influential group of consumers, those responsible for purchase decisions at their centers.

With more than 4,500 certified instructors and equine specialists and more than 850 member centers around the globe, PATH Intl. members help 58,300 children and adults—including more than 3,310 veterans and active-duty military personnel—with physical, cognitive and emotional challenges find strength and independence through the power of the horse each year. Exhibiting at a PATH Intl. conference is an ideal way for businesses and other organizations to gain valuable exposure while showing their support for PATH Intl., our members and the thousands of people who benefit from equine-assisted activities and therapies each year.
